

Guidelines for Contributors:

1. Articles should be typed in MS Word, Times New Roman, font size 12.
2. The title should be written in the title case and font size 16.
3. Word limit for articles: 3000-4000 excluding references.
4. Articles should be accompanied with a 200 word abstract and (from 3 to 5) keywords.
5. In order to maintain the anonymity of the authors the names of the contributors should not appear anywhere in the Word file containing the article. The name(s), designation, institutional affiliation and contact details of the contributor(s) have to be provided in a separate word file which should also contain the title of the paper.
6. Contributors should follow the Chicago Manual of Style, 16th Edition. Parenthetical in-text reference as well as a bibliography has to be provided. Only explanatory footnotes may be used. Each of the entries in the bibliography must have a reference in the text.
7. In order to maintain a uniformity of spelling contributors are requested to use UK English spellings throughout.

A list of examples from the Chicago Manual has been appended for the convenience of the contributors. The first instance in each example stands for the bibliographic entry and the second instance stands for the in-text reference.

1. Book

One author

- Pollan, Michael. The Omnivore's Dilemma: A Natural History of Four Meals. New York: Penguin, 2006.
